

Biography

Suzan pursued her University undergraduate studies in Image Arts at Ryerson University in Toronto Ontario. Her studies in media arts included photography, film, television and design.

Her daily work as a graphic designer is complemented by her passion for sculpture where she finds pure bliss creating art pieces that fully express her personality.

In the last 5 years, she has taken on her mother's passion for sculpture, an art form that was very present in the home and as far back as she can remember. Working with clay and natural matter has brought a very grounding effect to her life, enabling her to explore her own personal voice.

Figurative in style, her artwork aims to celebrate the human experience, as well as be an invitation to explore beyond the self.

In the last 2 years she has been awarded for her sculptural expression by individual peer juries in regional exhibitions and contests.
